41. – 43. soruları aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

Science and technology are interdependent, but their basic goals differ. The goal of science is to understand natural phenomena. In contrast, the goal of technology is generally to apply scientific knowledge for some specific purpose. Biologists and other scientists often speak of "discoveries," while engineers and other technologists more often speak of "inventions." The beneficiaries of those inventions also include scientists, who put new technology to work in their research. Scientific discoveries often lead to new technologies. Moreover, the combination of science and technology has dramatic effects on society. For instance, the discovery of the structure of DNA more than 50 years ago and subsequent achievements in DNA science have led to various technologies of DNA engineering that are transforming many fields, including medicine, forensics, and agriculture.

41. It is pointed out in the passage that the technologies developed through DNA engineering ----.

- A) are making fundamental changes in various fields, ranging from medicine to forensics and agriculture
- B) are being applied with some success in different fields of study, especially in forensics
- C) need to be improved in order to make them more effective in medicine and forensics
- D) have been in use for over 50 years, especially in the fields of medicine, forensics, and agriculture
- E) are extremely complicated, but their use in medicine has been increasingly common

42. According to the passage, although science and technology differ with regard to their essential aims, ----.

- A) the advancement of scientific knowledge wholly depends on the use of technology
- B) they are complementary to each other and have a close relationship
- C) it is technology that enables science to understand phenomena in nature fully
- D) no scientific progress can be made in medicine without the use of technology
- E) it is through the use of new technologies that scientific discoveries can best be evaluated

43. It is stressed in the passage that the cooperation of science and technology ----.

- A) ought to be far more efficient and productive
- B) has so far been achieved only in DNA science
- C) is a matter that has aroused much controversy among scientists
- D) is indispensable for the improvement of forensic studies
- E) has always been for the good of society

44. – 46. soruları aşağıdaki parçaya göre cevaplayınız.

In ancient Greece, Athens and Sparta both wanted to be the leading power. Athens was rich and more civilized, but Sparta was somewhat backward, though brave and well-organized. The Athenians had a splendid navy, while the Spartans had the besttrained soldiers. Both city-states had allies that would support them. They also had enemies who were looking for the chance to attack. Moreover, Athens and Sparta were rivals in another way. Each believed that their city had the best laws and lifestyle. The Spartans thought that the Athenians were soft and pleasure-seeking. The Athenians looked on the Spartans as being harsh and dull. In 461 B.C., Athens attacked Sparta and its allies. The fighting continued for 14 years until the Athenians won, and Sparta was forced to admit that Athens was the strongest power in Greece.

44. As described in the passage, in ancient Greece, ----.

- A) Sparta had the best legal system, which was much envied by the Athenians
- B) Athens had more allies than Sparta and collaborated with them to win the war
- C) Athens had the monopoly of overseas trade and caused the collapse of the Spartan economy
- D) there was a fierce rivalry between Athens and Sparta, which ultimately led to a war
- E) the economic prosperity of Athens was completely ruined by the war with Sparta

45. As emphasized in the passage, contrary to Sparta, Athens ----.

- A) was a decadent city-state and, in military matters, depended only on its allies
- B) was much more advanced politically, culturally, and economically
- C) was unable to resolve the political crisis that undermined its military power
- D) had a lifestyle that was characterized by political and moral corruption
- E) always tried to impose its hegemony on all the city-states in Greece

46. One understands from the passage that the Athenians ----.

- A) were more experienced in naval and tactical matters than any other city-state
- B) had a deep-seated fear of the Spartans and, therefore, kept a well-trained army
- C) and the Spartans tried their best to live in peace and strengthen friendship
- D) always believed that, against their enemies, they could depend on the Spartans
- E) were biased against the Spartans and despised them
